

Summary

This focus group will be the forum for discussing, among others, the following issues related to existing language tests for exchange students:

- The role of language tests in mobility programmes, especially Erasmus
- The minimum language level required at the sending university and at the receiving university
- Types of language tests available to students: conditions and dates
- The Online Linguistic Support test: advantages, disadvantages and results
- The B1 level in languages other than English: imposition or real need?
- Best practice in relation to language tests for mobility programmes
